

Clement H. Brooke, Jr.

(- 5 Dec 1914)

Brooke. Suddenly, on December 5, 1914, at Emergency Hospital, Clement H., beloved son of the late Clement and Margaret P. Brooke. Funeral Monday, December 7, at 2 o'clock, from St. Alban's Church. Interment (private) at Congressional cemetery. (Maryland papers please copy.)

The Evening Star, December 5, 1914, p. 4

Injured Conductor Dies

Charles H. Brooke, conductor on the Tenleytown branch of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, who was injured while switching his car at 5th and F streets northwest Thursday afternoon, died at Emergency Hospital about 3 o'clock this morning. Brooke was struck by a car. Coroner Nevitt viewed the body and arranged to hold an inquest this afternoon.