Pioneer Washingtonian, Jacob R. Faunce, Buried Leader in Sea Food Market Is Laid to Rest in Congressional Cemetery

Jacob Rice Faunce, 72, last surviving son of John Faunce, who in about the middle of the last century established a sea food business here which still bears the family name, was buried in Congressional Cemetery this afternoon following funeral services at his home in Virginia Highlands.

Mr. Faunce, who died Thursday, was born in Washington and was one of the oldest figures in the city's sea food market. His family for many years operated a fleet of fishing boats in the Potomac and Chesapeake Bay, and had many wharves along the waterfront of Washington.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary M. Faunce; two sons, Raymond T. and Jacob D. Faunce of this city; a daughter, Mrs. Charles F. Edwards, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and a sister, Elizabeth A. Faunce.
