The Evening Star, October 31, 1949, p. A2

Mrs. Hadassah Leshner Fleming, 78, widow of George E. Fleming, vice president of the Union Trust Co., died early today at her home, 3201 Idaho avenue N.W., after a long illness.

Mrs. Fleming, who had been a Washington resident for 60 years, was born and educated in Lock Haven, Pa. In 1893 she married Mr. Fleming, who began his 45 years' service with Union Trust Co. as its first secretary in 1889. He died three years ago.

She was a member of the Twentieth Century Club, the Washington Club and also belonged to the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church, 201 Fourth street S.E. During World War II Mrs. Fleming was active in Red Cross work here.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Frances F. Winslow, Summit, N.J.; Miss Phebe B. Fleming, New Brunswick, N.J., and Mrs. William Burke, jr., of the Idaho avenue address; two sons, John L., 1630 Forty-fourth street N.W., and Carroll H. Fleming, Buffalo, N.Y.; a brother, Robert H. Leshner, Kingman, Ariz., and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow in St. Albans Church. Burial will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Conducting the services will be the Rev. Dr. E. Felix Kloman, pastor of St. Alban's, and the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, former pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, who is now head of the Theological Seminary in New Brunswick.
