

Henry A. Garrett

(- 15 Feb 1869)

Garrett. On the 15th instant, at No. 655, 7th street west, Mr. Henry A. Garrett, in the 49th year of his age. His acquaintances are invited to attend his funeral from his late residence, at 2 p.m. on the 17th instant.

The Evening Star, November 12, 1861, p. 3

Another Assault On The Policemen

Last Saturday, patrolman Garrett, of Seventh Ward police, was attacked by a number of marines while in the vicinity of Tin Pot alley. Notwithstanding the number against him, he succeeded in fighting his way through, and, with several patrolmen and good citizens who came to his assistance, secured the arrest of the three principals, Isaac Harris, John Cuff, and --- Donaldson, and they were sent to jail for court by Justice Stratton.

Garrett was but slightly hurt, but Harris, the leader of the party, had his head severely cut, and a finger knocked off in the fight with Garrett, who used his staff like an old hand. Garrett is the partner of Larcombe, the patrolman who was so seriously injured by soldiers in the same locality last week.

The Evening Star, February 17, 1869

Funeral

The funeral of the late Henry A. Garrett, a member of the Metropolitan Police force, and a well-known resident of South Washington, took place from his late residence corner of 7th and E streets, and it was well attended.

The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Baldwin, of Ryland Chapel, and at their conclusion, the remains were taken to the Congressional Cemetery, where they were interred.

The procession was composed of a detail of fifty policemen under Lieut. Noonan; Lincoln Camp No. 2, Sons of Liberty, headed by Heald's Washington Band; Eastern Lodge No. 7, and Columbian Encampment No. 1, I.O.O.F., headed by Prosperi's Band.

The National Republican, February 18, 1869, p. 4

Funeral of Policeman Garrett

The funeral of the late Henry A. Garrett took place from his late residence, corner of Seventh and E streets south, and was very largely attended. The remains were escorted to the Congressional burying ground by a detachment of fifty policemen, under Lieut. Noonan; Lincoln Camp of the Sons of Liberty, with Heald's band, and Eastern Lodge No. 7, of Odd Fellows, and Columbian Encampment, with the marine band. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Baldwin, of Ryland chapel, Island.