Maj. C.R. Gary Dies After Long Illness

Descendant of Delaware Signer of Declaration of Independence Masons To Hold Rites

Descendant of a signer of the declaration of Independence, Maj. C. Rodney Gary, for many years connected with the War Department, died yesterday morning after a long illness at his home, 1735 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

He was a great-great-grandnephew of Caesar Rodney, of Delaware, signer of the Declaration of Independence. His great-grandfather, the brother of Caesar Rodney, was Col. Thomas Rodney, of American Revolutionary War fame. He was the great-grandson of Caesar A. Rodney, Attorney general under Presidents Jefferson and Madison.

Was Native of Texas

On his father's side he was descended from Col. Richard Lee, first attorney general of Virginia, and of the Dibrell and Watson families of Virginia.

A native of Plantersville, Tex., he was educated in private schools and for two year attended Texas A. and M. College before entering the United states Military Academy in 1883. After three years there he withdrew and came to Washington, where he made his home continuously. He was subsequently commissioned a major of the Fourth Battalion, district Militia, by President Cleveland, and later a major of the Second Battalion by President Harrison.

Served in ordnance Office

He served in the ordnance office of the War Department for many years, but was employed in its finance department when he was retired for disability.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Paul Anderson, of this city, and both Miss Wilmuth Gary and Mrs. Emil A. Gathmann, of Catonsville, Md.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Hysong's funeral home, 1303 N street northwest, with interment in Congressional Cemetery under the direction of Dawson Lodge of Masons, of which he had been a member for many years.
