Infantile Paralysis Claims Second Victim in Family in Month

Mildred Francis Howard, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Howard of 111 Quincy street, Chevy Chase, Md., died Wednesday night.

This is the second death that has befallen the family during the month, their youngest child Robert Howard, having died recently. Both children died from infantile paralysis.

Their loss is a great shock to the parents and the many friends residing nearby.

Dies After Long Illness

Erroneously Stated Child Was Infantile Paralysis Victim

Mildred C. Howard, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Howard of 111 Quincy street, Chevy Chase, who died last week, suffered from chronic disease of long standing, which brought about her death. It was erroneously reported that the little girl had died of infantile paralysis. A younger child of Mr. and Mrs. Howard died of that disease some time ago.
