

Child of Nathan Lewis (- 4 Aug 1865)

The Evening Star, August 4, 1865

Accidental Drowning

On Wednesday afternoon a little son of Mr. Nathan Lewis, the well known mail messenger of the Navy Yard, residing on 11th street east, accidentally fell from the rail of the Anacostia bridge into the channel and was drowned. Efforts were made to recover the body nearly the entire day yesterday and last night it rose to the surface.