

Edwin Obeal Mann (1885 – 15 Aug 1915)

Mann. Suddenly, on Sunday, August 15, 1915, at 7:30 p.m., Edwin Obeal, beloved son of Mary O. Mann. Funeral from the residence of his brother, Donald L. Mann, 254 15th street southeast, August 17, at 4 p.m. Interment, Congressional cemetery. Friends and relatives invited to attend.

The Evening Star, August 16, 1915, p. 8

Accident Proves Fatal

Edwin O. Mann Dies After Having Leg Crushed by Train

Edwin Obeal Mann, 619 East Capitol street, who is alleged to have disregarded safety-first rules in an effort to hurry from a Chesapeake Beach train at Seat Pleasant Saturday night to insure getting a seat in a street car, died at Casualty Hospital last night. Mann, according to a report of the police, alighted from a moving train, fell and had his leg crushed.

So serious was the injury he received that surgeons at Casualty Hospital deemed it absolutely necessary to amputate the leg in an effort to save his life. He was a son of Mrs. Mary O. Mann. His funeral will take place from the home of Donald L. Mann, his brother, 254 15th street southeast.