T.P. Mason Dies at 71; Former Carriage Maker

Thomas Percy Mason, 71, last son of a Washington carriage and wagon-making family, died yesterday in the home of his sister, Mrs. Jane E. Hardy, 3730 Benton street N.W.

Mr. Mason, who was born and reared in Washington, was one of five brothers who learned the trade from their father, G.W. Mason. The father established the business here nearly 100 years ago.

Before his retirement 15 years ago, Mr. Mason was an upholsterer at an automobile repair company at 1074 Thomas Jefferson street N.W. He also lived at this address.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.
