D.F. McGowan Dead

Capital Resident 54 Years Was Treasury Employee

David F. McGowan, who had been a resident of Washington and an employee of the Treasury Department more than 54 years, died in Rome, Ga., September 22, and will be buried in Congressional Cemetery today.

Mr. McGowan was born at Juniata Furnace, Perry County, Pa., January 10, 1838. He came to Washington, October 31, 1865. He had enlisted at Peoria, Ill., September 4, 1861, and had served in Company I, 47th Illinois Infantry, as corporal and sergeant, until October 11, 1864. He was married to Miss Ida Annette Miller October 13, 1870, by Rev. Dr. John Chester, in the chapel of the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church. Both families were prominent residents of the Capital. Mr. McGowan served the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church 50 years as trustee and as president of the board many years. He became a member of the Metropolitan Church September 29, 1870, was elected trustee in 1871, president of the board February 12, 1892, and since his removal from Washington, in 1920, trustee emeritus. He entered the Treasury Department March 26, 1866, and was retired August 20, 1920.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock today in Congressional Cemetery chapel by Rev. Freeley Rohrer.

Mrs. McGowan and a son, Chester Ellwood, of Memphis survive.
