Congress

The Senate had but a short session yesterday, yet an interesting one. We were gratified to see the move made by the enlightened Senator from California towards abrogating certain obnoxious laws in Kansas. Some conversation then ensued in regard to the resolution submitted by Mr. Clayton on Saturday last, when further proceeding on it was cut off by a message from the House of Representatives announcing the decease of the Hon. James Meacham, an esteemed member of the House from the State of Vermont. The message having been read, Mr. Foot, of Vermont, rose and pronounced an eloquent and impressive eulogy on the life and character of the lamented Representative, a full report of which is given under the appropriate head. Mr. Douglas (a native of Vermont) also paid a feeling tribute to the virtues of the deceased member; and then, in conformity to the resolutions unanimously adopted, the Senate adjourned.

In the House of Representatives the formal announcement of the death of the Hon. James Meacham, of Vermont, superseded all other proceedings for the day. Mr. Morrill, one of his colleagues, gave a graphic narrative of the most interesting events in the career of his gifted and much-respected friend, accompanied by a touching and eloquent tribute to his personal merits and public usefulness. Messrs. Howard, of Michigan, Etheridge, of Tennessee, Dickson, of New York, and Giddings, of Ohio, followed in well-conceived and feeling remarks; and the House adjourned, after adopting the customary resolutions of respect and condolence.
