

Isabelle Moran

(- 18 May 1893)

Moran. On Thursday morning, May 18, 1893, Belle Stockett, wife of John A. Moran. Funeral will take place Saturday at 3 p.m. from her late residence, No. 211 Fifth street southeast.

The Evening Star, May 23, 1893

In Memoriam

Moran. On Thursday morning, May 18, 1893, after a long and painful illness, which she bore with Christ-like fortitude and resignation to the will of her God, a faithful wife and a devoted mother, in the person of Mrs. Belle Stockett Moran, wife of John A. Moran, 211 5th street northeast, yielded up her spirit into the hands of her Maker. As the end drew nigh, many times, and yearningly, did she cry out, "I want to go home," and so peacefully passed into the realm of God, leaving a bereaved husband and two little children to bemoan their loss. Her casket was covered with many beautiful floral tributes from those who had learned to love her as the embodiment of true womanhood. Religious services were conducted on May 20 at her late residence by the Rev. Alex'r E. Gibson of Waugh M.E. Church, who beautifully and feelingly alluded to her worth as woman, wife and mother. Her remains were consigned to their last resting place in Congressional cemetery amid the tears of all. Few die so universally esteemed as she--for she lived for her God, her children and her home.