Death Of An Old Physician

We regret to learn that Dr. J.R. Piper, a well known homeopathic practitioner of this city, died this morning at his residence on 12th street, near H. Dr. Piper was one of our oldest homeopathic physicians. For years past he has suffered with a cancer on the face, the effects of which both European and American medical skill attempted to battle without success. He was a member of the Grand and subordinate lodges and Encampments of Odd Fellows of this city--which bodies will meet tonight to take action in regard to his funeral.
