Miss Anna W. Reading

Funeral services over the remains of Miss Anna Washington Reading took place at 11 o'clock today at St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal Church before a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. J.A. Aspinwall read the Episcopal service for the dead, and as the comforting words fell upon the ear many eyes dimmed with tears. Miss Reading was the daughter of the late Maj. Pierson B. Reading and Mrs. Fannie Washington Reading. The deceased was a native of California, but had lived in this city for a number of years, where she was popular in a wide circle of friends. The interment was private and in Congressional cemetery.
