

William Reeves

(- 22 Nov 1866)

The Evening Star, November 23, 1866

Fatal Accident

Yesterday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, a boy named William Reeves, aged about 16 years, who was engaged in hauling bricks from one of the kilns, was trotting his horse at a lively gait, and turned the corner of 1st and M streets east, when the cart came in contact with a post and was upset, throwing the boy out, and the horse fell upon him, killing him almost instantly. Officer J.E. Arnold had the corpse conveyed to the residence of the parents, on K street, between New Jersey avenue and 1st street east.