

Hattie Robey

(- 5 Jun 1894)

Roby. Suddenly, June 5, 1894, at 8:30 p.m., Hattie Roby, in the 16th year of her age.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in her home
Which never can be filled.

God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon that God hath given;
Although the body slumbers here,
Her soul is safe in heaven.

Funeral from her late residence, 609 C street southwest, Thursday at 3:30 p.m. Relatives and friends invited to attend.

The Evening Star, June 8, 1894

Funeral of Hattie Robey.

The funeral of Miss Hattie Robey, the young girl who met such a horrible fate by being run over by an engine of the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company at 6th and C street southwest on Tuesday evening last, took place yesterday afternoon from Trinity Church. Scores of friends of the popular young girl were present to pay their last respects to her memory. Rev. Thos. G. Addison conducted the service and invoked in prayer the blessings of the Heavenly Father upon the bereaved mother of the deceased. The remains were later removed to Congressional cemetery, where interment took place. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. Edward Shea, Arthur Mulloy, Frank P. Crovo, Harry Friedrich, Willie Friedrich and Willie Cranston, all former schoolmates of Miss Robey, acted as pallbearers.
