

William Rothwell

(1845 – 9 Sep 1914)

---

Rothwell. On Wednesday, September 9, 1914, at his residence, 24 9th street northeast, William Rothwell, beloved husband of Sarah Rothwell. Funeral services at his late residence, Saturday, September 12, at 2:30 p.m. Interment private.

The Evening Star, September 11, 1914, p. 7

William Rothwell Is Dead

Well Known Master Plumber Succumbs to Bronchial Asthma

William Rothwell, seventy years old, a master plumber, engaged in the plumbing business in this city for the last forty-five years, died at his home, 24 9th street northeast, Wednesday evening, of bronchial asthma. Funeral services are to be held at the family residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment is to be private.

Born in England in 1845, Mr. Rothwell migrated to this country with his parents when he was five years old. He had lived in Washington since that time. About forty-five years ago he opened a plumbing and gas fitting business on Capitol Hill, where the Congressional Library now stands. At the time of his death he was engaged in the plumbing business on 18th street northwest.

Mr. Rothwell was a charter member of Washington Council, National Union.

A widow, three sons and two daughters survive him.