

Charles Roux

( – 23 Nov 1858)

---

The Evening Star, November 24, 1858

Death By Poison

Yesterday morning, a man named Rue or Roux died, suddenly at an Italian boarding house in the Fifth Ward. Our information, received from an officer, is, that the evening previous he took laudanum, which caused his death. We have not been able to ascertain whether it was taken purposely to commit suicide but it was generally supposed that it was. Upon inquiry this morning we learned that the coroner had not been notified, and no inquest had been made.