Edgar L. Scott Dead

Young Business Man of East Washington Victim of Pneumonia

Edgar L. Scott of southeast Washington died yesterday morning at 9;20 o'clock of pneumonia. He was taken ill a week ago and from the beginning the disease assumed a serious character. Mr. Scott, who was twenty-six years old, was the son of Amanda J. and the late William H. Scott. With his brother he was engaged in the wood and coal business, and his young life ended on the threshold of what promised to be a very successful career. He was one of the best-known young men in East Washington and attracted to himself a host of friends. The news of the fatal termination of his brief illness in death came as a great shock to his friends. Mr. Scott was prominent in Masonic circles, being a member of Anacostia Lodge, No. 21, F.A.A.M.

The funeral will occur from the residence of his mother, 1238 I street southeast, Monday at 2:30 p.m.
