

Hattie May Smith

(- 2 Jul 1977)

The Washington Post, July 3, 1977, p. 42

Hattie Smith, Roads Agency Aide

Hattie May Smith, 74, a native Washingtonian who worked for the Bureau of Public Roads for nearly 50 years died Saturday at her home in Washington after a long illness.

Mrs. Smith began to work for the bureau at the age of 14, and rose to head the mail and file division.

She was the widow of Frederick W. Smith, a Justice Department lawyer, who died in 1972.

Survivors include a son, John, and a sister, Evelyn S. Mattingly, both of Washington, and a grandson.

The family suggests that expressions of sympathy may be in the form of contributions to the Society for the Prevention of Blindness.
