Doctor's Son Killed As Car Overturns

James M. Sullivan, 19, of 3525 Davis st. nw., was killed early yesterday when he lost control of his car and overturned on a sharp curve on Queens Chapel rd. at 30th st. in Mt. Rainier.

Mt. Rainier Police Pvt. D.W. Manuel said the car went down an embankment and came to rest in the yard of the Mt. Rainier Junior High School.

Sullivan, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard T. Sullivan of the same address was a fourth generation Washingtonian. He was employed as assistant manager of the Jack Melrose Restaurant in the Continental Hotel.

Young Sullivan was travelling alone in the car and was following a vehicle driven by Robert Morgan, 28, of 8851 Garland ave., Silver Spring. Morgan, night manager of the restaurant, was driving another employe home after all three had worked late.

The youth was graduated from St. John's College in 1957 and intended to go into the restaurant business with a friend in a few years, Dr. Sullivan said.

Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Barbara Ann, 15, and Virginia, 14, and a brother, Richard, 21, of 3700 Cumberland st. nw.
