C.L. Taylor, Bank Teller For 37 Years

Charles L. Taylor, 77, a bank teller with the Metropolitan National Bank for 37 years, died Wednesday at his home, 3808 Veazey st. nw.

Mr. Taylor was working at the bank's Spring Valley branch in December, 1950, when it was held up by three gunmen who escaped with $35,825.

Mr. Taylor retired about seven years ago. He was a life member of Dawson Masonic Lodge and of Almas Temple. He also was a member of Knights Templar, Oldest Inhabitants and the New York Avenue Presbyterians Church, of which he was assistant treasurer for many years.

He leaves his wife, Nina Stewart Taylor, and two sons, Charles S. of Bethesda and John E. of the home address.
