

Lydia A. Weber

(1833 – 21 Jul 1866)

Weber. On Wednesday afternoon, after a week's illness, Mrs. Lydia A. Weber, aged 31 years 9 months, wife of Louis Weber. Her husband and children have cause to mourn a devoted wife and fond mother. May they find consolation in the hope that "Our kind Heavenly Father" hath taken her home unto Himself. Her friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral on tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock from the residence 569 7th street east between G and I streets south, Navy Yard.

The Evening Star, July 19, 1866

Sudden Death

Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. L. Weber, wife of Louis Weber, died very suddenly at her residence on 7th street east, between G and H south. Mrs. Weber had been confined about a week ago and after recovery was taken with symptoms of bilious fever. Yesterday, the vivid lightning and deafening thunder so alarmed her that she was seized with convulsions and died in a very short time.