A District Case In The United States Supreme Court

Yesterday the argument in this court in the case of W.C. Zantzinger et al., agt. William Gunton and the Bank of Washington, was commenced by Mr. Miller for appellants. This is an equity case, growing out of the estate of the late Wm. And Harriet Fisher. Complainant, Harriet A. Zantzinger as the only child of the Fishers, and the bill charges that in 1845 Fisher and wife conveyed to Gunton, in trust, certain property to secure the payment of a note of $6,065.84, and that there has been no settlement of the accounts by the trustee. Gunton, in his answer, denies that the plaintiffs have any legal or equitable interest in the proceeds of the note, and denies the right of plaintiff to require an account under the will.

Zantzinger. On April 19, 1901 at 7 a.m., at her residence, 416 6th street northwest, Harriot A., widow of the late Wm. C. Zantzinger, only daughter of William Fischer and niece of Dr. William Gunton, deceased. Funeral private.
